About Martin

Martin is an experienced, published author, artist, and editor with a demonstrated history in the writing and publishing industries, and a passion for all things fantastical and surreal. He is particularly fascinated by alternative realities, science fiction, magical realism, the metaphysical, and dark fantasy.

When not merrily tapping away at his keyboard or developing his next project, Martin likes nothing better than immerse himself in quantum physics, history, archaeology, the genesis and demographic of the Celtic nations, the science of reality, and just about anything that tweaks his sponge-like imagination.

In the past, he has worked as a University Chief Technician, Trade Union Area Secretary, Engineering Tutor, Lift Installer, Labourer, Bar Manager, and Bookshop Manager.
